Broaster Chicken & Ribs Receives The Presidential Seal of Approval

If it's good enough for The President of the United States of America, it's good enough for the community of Jacksonville, NC.

It was a day like any other day that Friday afternoon at Broaster Chicken & Ribs in Jacksonville, NC. That is until a woman clad in a dark suit came in to place an order. Before leaving, the woman handed the manager a coin – not any old coin but a gold coin engraved with the words: “Presidential Food Service for the White House.” That day was the day President Obama was at nearby Camp Lejeune making a speech to the Marines stationed there. White House spokesperson Gannet Tsegai later confirmed that the President himself had eaten that Genuine Broaster Chicken®.

There are a lot of other people in Jacksonville, NC area that have tasted Broaster Chicken as well. After incorporating the Broaster program several years ago in their Hummingbird Restaurant, the ownership group decided to open another restaurant, this time dedicated to serving Genuine Broaster Chicken.

Broaster Chicken & Ribs now serves between 1400 and 2400 pieces of chicken per week – and almost half of that is catered. They cater a lot of church events as well as school board meetings and other school events. They’ve even catered to the local race track.

Recently, a cab driver stopped by the restaurant and told them that she has had so many soldiers on their way to Camp Lejeune ask her to stop at Broaster Chicken & Ribs that she finally had to stop in herself. This may be why Broaster Chicken & Ribs has been recommended to be part of the Camp Lejeune Main Exchange Food Court after the base is done with future renovations.
